Athens and Aegina

Mid-sixth century

- Echthrē palaiē (Ancient hatred)
  - Peplos and chiton
- Aegina mints her own coins
- Independent Aegina

506

- Heraldless War
  - Aegina raids Attica at Thebes’ request

491-88

See attached (Figueira 1988, pp.88-9)

- Aegina Medizes
- 10 Aeginetans taken as hostages
- Capture of Theoris
- Plot of Nicodromus

480s

- Athens and Aegina in conflict
- Themistoclean Building Program
- Conflict halted by Hellenic League
- Battle of Salamis
  - Allied, but rivals
- After Salamis: Athens becomes the Naval Power

458

- Naumachia megalē
  - Athens defeats Aegina
  - Aegina becomes a tributary ally

431

- Athens expels Aeginetans and colonizes
  - Punitive
  - Strategic: Naval base for raids against the Peloponnese
Ancient evidence: Hdt. 5.79-88, 6.49-94; Thuc. 1.105

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Figueira, “Aigina and the Naval Strategy of the Late Fifth and Early Fourth Centuries,”... 1990.

Figueira, Thomas J. Athens and Aegina in the Age of Imperial Colonization. JHUP, 1991.

